COUNTY TO USE OIL FOR FUEL

Commissioners Will Consider Building Road Bypassing Island of Fabens.

Structural changes and the installation of oil tanks to provide for an oil heating system in the county courthouse were authorized by the county commissioners at their regular meeting Monday afternoon. The change in heating apparatus will cost $1499 and, following the examination of bids, the contract was awarded to Kraemer, Zerk & Meyer.

The all bids were carefully scanned and that of the Great Western Oil Co. at $15 cents a gallon was accepted. According to an engineer's estimate, the county will save approximately $400 the first year after the changes necessary, and in each year thereafter will save $200.

A petition of James R. Shinn, who recently contracted to drill a well in the basement of the county courthouse so as to do away with the necessity of using city water, was considered. Shinn asked reimbursement for $120 he expended on the well. According to the commissioners, the well did not reach the required depth and hence he is entitled to the money.

Next Thursday the commissioners will go in a body to the island at Fabens for the purpose of inspecting a proposed highway route bypassing the island. The state highway commission has agreed to build a road across the island.

A recent election of school trustees at San Elizario was canvassed and the following decided about: Jose J. Montes, Julian Alarcon, Andres Madrid, Frank Giran, Andres Salazar, Jose Perez and J. G. Garcia.

A report of the Associated Charities shows that during June the county paid $208 in pensions. Two persons were added to the list of pensioners.

Local Firemen Get Their Positions Back On Return From War

Thirteen former firemen of the El Paso department, who have been in the service, have returned and are now on duty at the local stations, chief John W. Wray stated Tuesday morning. Nine of these have returned from the army and the remaining four from the navy. Over half of the men who changed from El Paso firemen to soldiers and sailors are still in France, according to the chief. Several others have received their discharges in addition to the 13 mentioned above and have gone to the oil fields.

Among the more recent ones who have returned from the service and gone back to work on the El Paso department are John O. Drew, who was in the navy, and C. Grodin, who was with the army in France.

SANTA FE TRACKS WASHED OUT NEAR LAS VEGAS, N. M.
East Las Vegas, N. M., July 15.—Heavy rains in the mountains south of here last night washed out several hundred feet of track on the Santa Fe railroad between Lamy and Cannonville, near here, tying up all traffic on the New Mexico division.

Two trains were kept in the yards here all night.

The rain occurred in the Glorieta mountains, causing floods in the arroyos and a small creek near Cannonville. Traffic is being detoured over the Colorado and Southern track through Amarillo, Tex.

M. L. Hutchins, secretary of the executive committee of the El Paso Boy Scouts, returned Monday afternoon from a visit to the camp in the mountains near Cloudcroft, and says the boys are having a fine time and that scout executive Glen O. Everman is handling them in fine style. On Sunday afternoon Mr. Everman took some of the scouts to the Lodge at Cloudcroft and had them give an exhibition of knot tying and first aid work. Gen. James H. Erwin visited the scout camp Sunday morning, and inspected the boys. He commended the camp and its management and told Mr. Everman that when his troops got there this week they could do anything for the scouts, they would be glad to do it. He inspected their bunk, the water supply, their food and cooking, the camp sanitation, etc., and was well pleased with it.

DOZENS OF DANCES OF EVERY KIND
One-step, Fox-trots, Waltzes
Are on July Columbia Records

Columbia Records are dance mad this month. The Louisiana Five Jazz Orchestra is a new organization to make Columbia Records. It plays a melody fox-trot, "Just Another Good Man Gone Wrong," introducing "Who'll Love You When I'm Gone" on one side of a record, and "Yelping Hound Blues," introducing "Foot-Warmer" on the other. The Five's special pet band puts lots of "pep" into these pieces.

Don't let the title of "Tears (of Love)" mislead you. It's a melody one-step, introducing "I'm Glad I Can Make You Cry" and "Pahmah." It is played in a lively fashion by the Jokers' Dance Orchestra, which plays on the other side of the record a melody fox-trot, "Yama Yama Blues," introducing "You're Some Pretty Doll."

"Mammy's Lullaby," a waltz, is heralded as a triumph of saxophone recording because of the full value it gives to that instrument, which carries the melody for the Happy Six. On the other side of this record the Waldorf America Dance Orchestra plays "The Red Lantern," a melody fox-trot from the music, especially written for Nazimova's new motion picture film of the same name, introducing "Kisses" and "There's Only One That I Would Love My Sleep For."—Adv.
